Send large files securely

Large files cannot be sent by standard email. File Share stops you from turning to insecure options that do not fulfil data security requirements. With File Share, you can send large files from your own trusted email provider as usual. It is safe, easy and most of all efficient. You can send any file to anyone at any time, without having to compress or alter it in any way.

Share any file type from your Microsoft email account

We often communicate digitally. Extensive spreadsheets, presentations, care records, photos and videos are all shared with others, and not always securely. File Share exists because security is very important within the healthcare sector. You can use this service to share a diverse range of file types within your healthcare network using your own Microsoft email account.

Track and trace

You can send a maximum of 10 files of up to 5 GB per file with File Share. The files have a track and trace function so that you can follow their status after sending. This not only applies to the files you send, but also to documents that you receive through File Share.

Attach and delete

Files sent by File Share are sent securely with an access code and are only retained for a limited time. The whole process complies with the latest GDPR guidelines. As a sender, you keep control over your files. After sending, you can still attach items and delete the files you have sent if necessary.
